I ran into both Marie Harrison and Dr. Raymond Tompkins at the India Basin Park planning community mtg this afternoon. I talked with both of them to fill them in on what we discussed this morning. Marie asked me to be prepared to report back about dust issues at the 9/16 EJ Task Force mtg.

She also explained that maybe we didn't see the posting until later because any complaints need to go through her and others for review & approval before they get posted online. She also explained that the map might be the location of the person making the complaint wherever they are when they are posting it. This is not necessarily the location of the problem. She appreciates that we are working on addressing the issue.

Hi Lily,

Is the HP Green Action website working for you? I can't seem to get it to work long enough to find the complaint. Anyways, if you get back to the complaint and could send me the link, I would be happy to submit a statement from the Navy.

If you don't get around to it, I can try again in an hour or so...but I may not be able to respond until Monday.

Thanks again,

Derek

Thank you Hansen. I talked with Derek, the Navy's Base Environmental Coordinator, this morning. I'm cc'ing him in case you don't have his contact info handy. He has reminded his staff again this morning about the importance of dust control, and the Navy will be posting contact information, etc., in the next several days onto IVAN's website in response. I'm working with my colleagues at USEPA to post a more substantive response from USEPA on IVAN as well. Do you know if the BAAQMD will post anything?

In the mean time, the Navy is not using the Crisp Road entry to the base at all and has not been for some time.

Lily, this is a more recent complaint you may have seen on IVAN, without much detail, concerning trucks coming from the Shipyard site without adequate dust control. I just wanted you to have Bronson Johnson's responses should you also get asked about this situation.

I don't know if the IVAN complaint concerns the Navy portion of the Shipyard, or through which gate the trucking traffic is being observed.

Just adding a bit of info. I've heard that the Navy has opened the Crisp Rd gate for certain hauling activities (Amy may know more). The location of the pin seems generally located on Crisp Rd., though not exactly at either gate. My earlier comments were focused on the other gate at Donahue.

Thx

B

Thanks for the forward. Vagueness makes this very difficult to substantiate. Traffic includes trucks related to Navy construction, Lennar construction, artists, Navy contractor staff, Lennar contractor staff, and new residents. Traveled roadway is squeaky clean so not sure how cars can be generating dust. Our new residents who live near the project gateway have not complained of the same.

Please let us know if there is any follow up required.

Thanks,

Bronson

It is unclear to me if the complaint re. road dust generated by trucks involves those coming from Lennar-managed or Navy-managed parcels at the Shipyard. Please let me know if you have any information that I can add to my response.
